The University of Cincinnati's main campus has been listed as one of the world's most beautiful college campuses on

Other colleges on the list include Ohio's own Kenyon College, Oxford University and Princeton University.

UC has spent hundreds of millions of dollars to rebuild its campus during the last decade, adding new buildings such as the Campus Recreation Center, the Engineering Research Center and the expanded Tangeman University Center.

The rebuilding plan also added the "Main Street" walking path through many of the new buildings
